

Industrial outlook bright for Hancock county, director says

By JAKE JACOB
Three brand new companies to this area are almost certain to settle within the boundaries of Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission controlled lands during 1976, according to Wilson W. Webre, director.

Wilson said this week that two of these, Regal Tool and Rubber Co., Inc., and Hancock Grain Co., Inc., were to locate in the Port Bienville Industrial area, while the third, Walle Corporation, is to construct facilities at Stennis Field.

Further, the port director said a continuing expression of settlement was being afforded by the Borg-Warner Corporation with their request for a third option extension on 205 acres at the port location.

Webre said the industrial picture within the county had undergone significant improvement, and his commission is entering 1976 with great expectations.

"We have six industries providing payrolls at Port Bienville, three more well financed ventures are in advanced stages of negotiations or preparing final plans; Borg Warner is extending their option, the shipyard is under reorganization, and apart from the activity created by the vocational school at Stennis Field, we now have a company offering 50 new jobs, mostly to female workers, locating at that site," Webre allowed.

Regal Tool and Rubber Co., Inc. is a subsidiary of Texas International Company of Oklahoma City, Okla. Regal, with home offices in Grapevine, Texas, manufactures proprietary rubber products for the onshore and offshore oil and marine industries.

Ultimately, Webre said it is hoped the company will expand into the construction of offshore drilling platforms, and boost local employment up to 120 persons.

Initially the company expects to utilize about 50 "locals" on its work force. Upon completion of all construction, Continued on Page 12.

Kidnap suspect nabbed

By JAKE JACOB

Gulfport kidnap victim Mrs. Edwina D. Marter was probably killed within two hours after her abduction.

This is the belief of Larkin Smith, chief investigator, Harrison County Sheriff's Department, now heading up the case. Smith advanced the time of death following a study of the autopsy results.

Mrs. Marter, wife of Charles W. Marter, senior vice-president of the Gulf National Bank, was taken from her home about 2 p.m., Monday. She, and her family, lived at 264 Southern Circle, Mississippi City. One son, 8, was at school during the abduction time, while the other, age 3, was not harmed or taken.

Charged with capital murder in connection with the crime is suspect Richard Gerald Jordan, 29, of Hattiesburg, now being held in Harrison County Jail.

Roy Klager of Jackson, assistant agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's efforts on the case said Tuesday that Mrs. Marter's body was recovered during the afternoon of that day. Smith confirmed reports the discovery was made subsequent to questioning Jordan, who was captured by police at a roadblock following his attempt to breach a security ring established throughout the area by police after abandoning a car used in the ransom pickup. Larkin said Jordan was in a Yellow Cab and had given the driver a destination beyond the cordoned zone's limits.

The ransom was recovered from a location described by Smith as a "hiding area."

Smith expressed caution in his answers to questions from the Sea Coast Echo, saying a suspect had been charged, and the necessity existed to not prejudice trial, or his rights.

Asked if a second person had been involved in the crime, Smith allowed the possibility existed and that the investigation was continuing. He also said additional evidence on the case had been found at the site of the body's location, an area it is thought to have been known to Jordan from previous visits to Gulfport.

Ben Graves, senior resident agent, FBI, said yesterday that although one phase of the investigation is complete, his office is remaining active in assisting the Harrison County authorities.

It now appears the sequence of events in the kidnapping was as follows:

Mrs. Edwina D. Marter, abducted about 2 p.m., Monday.

Mrs. Marter, according to the autopsy evidence as supplied by Smith, was killed shortly after this time, either at the body's final location, or at a second spot and transported to the hiding place.

Mr. Marter began to receive telephone calls demanding ransom in the amount of $25,000 for the safe return of his wife, along with delivery instructions.

According to reports, at least two attempts to comply with these demands aborted when the kidnapper apparently spotted, or suspected the presence of law enforcement personnel.

On Tuesday morning, Mr. Marter was again contacted and this time given a new delivery point on Interstate 10, at a site marked by a blue jacket.

Law enforcement officers witnessed the drop, at approximately 9:30 a.m., Tuesday, now apparently some 18 hours after the victim's death, spotted the suspect, but lost his vehicle in the ensuing chase in which a sheriff's

U.S. 90 collision injures deputy, two others

Hancock County Sheriff's Deputy James Ladner was listed in good condition at Howard Memorial Hospital in Biloxi today following injuries received in a two car collision early Sunday.

According to a witness to the accident, Deputy Ladner was making a left turn from Main St. onto U.S. 90 when his car was struck by another vehicle traveling east and driven by Cornelius C. Fairley, 22, of Biloxi.

Ladner was reportedly thrown from his car and temporarily pinned beneath it when the car was spun around from the impact. The vehicle driven by Fairley flipped over and landed upright facing north approximately 120 feet from the impact.

A spokesman at Howard Memorial Hospital where Ladner was transported said he was suffering from chipped bones in both arms, a broken left shoulder bone, deep head cuts, and numerous bruises and lacerations.

Fairley and a passenger in his car, Jessie Lee James, 20, of Ocean Springs were transported to Gulfport Memorial Hospital. Spokesmen there said Fairley suffered a broken bone in his neck and a broken ankle while James received a head wound and lost several teeth.

All three were first taken to Hancock General Hospital by Mobile Medic ambulance service.

MHP Herschel Ladner said that Fairley had been charged with reckless driving and failure to yield the right of way. A hearing is scheduled Jan. 19 before Justice of the Peace William Frisbie.

Both automobiles were listed as total losses. Ladner was driving a vehicle belonging to the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Soggy ruins

A charred refrigerator was all that remained to identify this room as the kitchen of Dominick Compagno's summer home at 443 Jefferson Davis Ave., Waveland. It took firemen approximately an hour to get the blaze under control.

Fire awakens sleeping man, destroys Waveland home

By CAROLE LANGE
WAVELAND—A fire of undetermined origin swept through the summer home of a New Orleans man here Tuesday afternoon before Waveland fire units could bring the blaze under control. Damages to the house and contents was estimated at $20,000.

Dominick Compagno, 80, said he left his cousin Nick Compagno, 64, to take a nap at his summer home at 443 Jefferson Davis Ave. while he paid his taxes at the Hancock County Courthouse.

"I don't understand how it could have happened," Compagno said later as he stood in front of the smoldering ruins. "I was just there 30 minutes ago."

Compagno's cousin Nick said he had been sleeping in the front bedroom of the three bedroom house when he was awakened "by a loud crackling noise and the smell of smoke."

According to Compagno, "I jumped out of bed and the whole back of the house was nothing but smoke, tons of it. I knew I couldn't get out that way so I pushed my hand through the window in the front door and jumped out."

"I didn't even put my pants on," he said. "I just jumped out in my drawers."

Compagno was taken by Mobile Medic to Hancock General Hospital where he was treated for first degree burns on his right leg and minor cuts. Captain Ronnie Ferrell of the Waveland Fire Department said the department was notified of the fire by a neighbor, Gerald Price, at approximately 1:20 p.m.

Mrs. Ruby Fleming, 118 Jefferson Davis Ave., told firemen "My dog was trying to alert me, he was barking like crazy, but I just didn't look out the window in time."

In his excitement to escape, Compagno said he forgot and left the key to his car in the burning house. Mrs. Fleming said Price borrowed a garden hose and kept a stream of water on the car parked in the driveway until firemen arrived.

Firemen were at the scene approximately 10 minutes later. According to Ferrell, the blaze was under control an hour later. The Bay St. Louis Fire Department was called in to assist.

Ferrell said the entire house was in flames when firemen arrived. "So we just threw the hoses on it." Following an inspection of the charred, soggy ruins, Ferrell said he could not determine how or in which room the fire started.

Compagno said the house and contents were insured.

In grassroots celebration

By Joe Pilet

A stranger name of Milton W. Edwards have into town today. Got his bearings from John Smith down at the County Agent's headquarters on Necaise Ave. and then headed straight for Highland Drive to question John McKenna.

Truth is John McKenna never heard tell of this fellow, but he let him into his house anyhow. The man looked honest. He was big, too. Had on a bright orange shirt and acted like he didn't mind being identified.

Turned out the nature of his business was horses. Yup! Horses 'n' Wagons. And partly here's what that hombre said:

Said he was a sort of volunteer working in harness with the Bicentennial Wagon Train Pilgrimage. Said the Mississippi Horse Council aimed to play a mighty big part in this event which will consist of a train of covered wagons that'll cross this whole country from West to East winding up on the Fourth of July at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania.

Said every state in the Union's going to have horses and wagons up East with them wagons loaded with scrolls of local history, artifacts and such. Said these things would end up as a part of a permanent record of our country's 200th birthday anniversary.

This feller vowed Bay St. Louis and Waveland and all Hancock County was going to take part in some of these goings on. Part of the information he carried in his head. Most of it he got out of his saddle bag. Here's how it read:

"As an appropriate tribute to the Nation's 200th anniversary, the wagons once more will roll. Back to the Cradle of Liberty. A pilgrimage to the birthplace of the nation. To rededicate the faith of the nation's citizens to the same principles which inspired their forefathers."

Well, seems like the route will bring four wagons right here to this community. There's a wagon from Louisiana, one from Pennsylvania, our own Mississippi Wagon and a chuck wagon headed this way. That means about 30 people and up to 20 head of horses will be guests of this community.

McKenna got down right inquisitive. Asked all about them horses. Asked about the people, too. No point in repeating his questions. Figure all most want to know is the answers. So The Louisiana and Mississippi Wagon will meet somewhere on I-10 and be joined by the others.

Our dignitaries, townsfolk, students, reporters and so on are expected to give them a fitting greeting and welcome them best they know how and offer what creature comforts we're able to provide the horses and men.

Course they carry their own feed and grub and bedding — just will be needing space and water and shower facilities and towels. (That ain't askin' much considering for the most part this is a bunch of volunteers footing their own expenses and paying the wagon driver about $500 a month plus victuals.)

Edwards believes the horses will be rolling in Mississippi territory on Feb. 25 and they'll be available in Waveland and Bay St. Louis on the 26th and 27th before moving on over to Pass Christian to take part in a Carnival Parade!

Looks like these wagon people been doing some deep brow furrowing thinking about such things as seeing they don't leave no litter, laying out proper encampment areas, getting traffic flowing with police escorts in front and police in back for further protection.

They named competent State Horse Chairman, Tom Watts, who lives up in Columbia, Mississippi to take over arrangements and see to it things go smooth as a new mowed meadow.

Rumor has it that Tom Watts himself and in person is a coming down here soon to get with people who have public interest at heart and set up proper schedules. Reckon he'll be letting us in on the plans, and naturally we'll tell you. Just you keep reading the Echo.

Bad weather keeping farmers inside

MISSISSIPPI STATE — Farming is at a standstill throughout Mississippi as extremely cold weather and wet conditions kept farmers out of fields during the past week.

Turnip and mustard greens are a total loss in Perry County due to hard freezes, according to James Tolar, county agent at New Augusta. Ryegrass is very short and farmers are having to feed their hay supply.

face a shortage of hay and grazing, stated T. K. Swoope, county agent at Kosciusko.

Winter grazing growth has been halted in Adams County by wet and cold weather, said

Although cold weather has stopped growth of winter grazing in Lauderdale County, there seems to be an adequate supply of hay and other roughages stored, according to B. G. Sims, county agent at Meridian. Much interest is being shown in soils testing, especially by home gardeners and livestock producers, he added.

County agents of the Cooperative Extension Service reported that cold weather stopped growth of winter grazing crops, and livestock producers are feeding hay and silage to replace the lost grazing.

Hay feeding of beef cattle is underway in Jefferson Davis County and good roughage supplies are on hand, said Franklin Hughes, county agent at Prentiss. Around 200 farm families have already signed vegetable production contracts with major companies.

If weather continues bad, Attala County farmers may

Police report continued auto tape player thefts

Police experienced a rather light week Jan. 7-14, as only four incidents required investigation, according to Police Chief William Carbonette.

In separate thefts Jan. 9 and Jan. 11, tape players were stolen from the owner's automobiles.

Grady Yarbrough, Bay Royale Apts., reported the Jan. 9 theft of a tape player valued at $100 from his car. Police are still investigating.

Another theft under investigation occurred at the Lagrange Lounge Jan. 11 when a tape player and box of eight track tapes were stolen from the automobile of Allen Piazza.

In one case of vandalism Jan. 8, Grant Bultman, 114 Engman Ave., reported that someone entered his home through a rear window then wrote on the walls, littered the house with paper, broke several windows and threw eggs on the floors and walls. Ptn. Frank Hess answered the complaint.

In an accident Jan. 10, Paul Cox Jr., 409 Carroll Ave., was charged with reckless driving for hitting an automobile belonging to Kevin Eagan. Eagan's automobile was parked in front of his home at 109 Carroll Ave. The two are scheduled to appear in City Court. Ptn. Larry Ladner and Wilbert Dorsey handled the investigation.

Webre says Port &amp; Harbor financially sound

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is entering 1976 in good financial shape.

Wilson W. Webre, director, said Monday that his commission has met current maturities on principal interest on all bond issues, and that he sees no difficulty in meeting maturity schedules in 1976.

"This is not withstanding the energy scare," Webre said, in reference to the gasoline tax collected by the state, and utilized solely for the purpose of Port and Harbor bond retirement.

Speaking of the recent Stennis International expansion project, the airport also being a port and harbor facility, Webre said, "The expansion of our main runway cost $2,669,000.

"Of this sum the federal government, through the Federal Aviation Administration, picked up 75 percent, or $2,001,782.32."

"By utilizing the terms of Mississippi House Bill 1402, we were able to secure the proceeds of an additional one mill state tax levy which reduced our share to $367,000."

"This means that for only 13 percent of actual cost, Hancock County was able to bring its airport into first class condition with a 8,500 foot main runway, plus provision of accompanying taxi-way and a high intensity airport lighting system."

On the overall bond picture, the port director said that as of the close of the 1974-75 fiscal year on Sept. 30, the principal amount of his commission's bonds outstanding amounted to some $4,581,920.

CHOOSING AN INSULATION CONTRACTOR

For non-do-it-yourselfers, a professional Fiberglas insulation contractor can help homeowners save fuel and money, quickly and efficiently.

"When it comes to making your home more energy efficient, you don't have to 'do-it-yourself' to get the job done. You can call upon the services of a professional insulation contractor.

There is a difference in cost and in the type of Fiberglas-insulating material used. But the results are still the same—a more comfortable home and as much as a 30 percent annual reduction in heating and cooling costs. To insulate an average size attic, the area of the home which accounts for a major percentage of a home's fuel waste, a "do-it-yourselfer" might typically spend about $200. If a contractor were retained to do the job, the cost would usually be a little more.

While do-it-yourselfers typically install Fiberglas that has been factory bonded into a blanket or "batt" form contractors install "loose-fill" insulation—clean, finely chopped tufts of loose Fiberglas, which are "blown" between attic floor joists with special pneumatic equipment.

This special pneumatic equipment enables contractors to efficiently insulate the more inaccessible areas of a home, such as walls, dormers and vented crawl spaces areas a do-it-yourselfer would find difficult to reach.

In selecting a contractor:

1. Ask for references.
2. If you are obtaining more than one quote on a job, be sure to describe the job's requirements in exactly the same way to each bidder.

3. Make sure that the contractor you hire is fully insured.

4. Make sure the contractor will issue a certificate identifying the "R value" (thermal efficiency rating) of the material installed. This can become a particularly useful document when you are ready to sell your home.

Shriver completes tour of Mississippi

Completing a four day, 16 city campaign swing through Mississippi, Democratic Presidential hopeful R. Sargent Shriver called for the nation to "re-think Mississippi."

Speaking to a standing room only crowd of 500 people in the Cohoma County Courthouse, Clarksdale, at his final stop Tuesday, Shriver said that much progress has been made in Mississippi in the last decade in terms of both economic development and human relations and that the state should no longer be ignored by national political leaders. Continued Shriver, "I have always said that the problems of integration would be solved first in the South rather than in the North, and that is the case today."

According to a Secret Service spokesman, the Shriver-motorcade through Mississippi set a new record. The 1000 mile trip that circled the state was the longest official motorcade the Secret Service had ever handled.

Sargent Shriver made other firsts during his swing through the state. He was the first Presidential candidate ever to appear in Moss Point and Brookhaven and the first Presidential candidate to speak at the opening session of the Circuit Court in Hattiesburg.

During the four day trip Shriver spoke to warm, friendly crowds and was greeted by city officials in each of the cities he visited. He was made an honorary citizen of Tupelo and Brookhaven, spoke at a gathering of 600 supporters hosted by Mayor Charles Evers in Fayette, and received a standing ovation from the Laurel Lions Club. In the words of Sargent Shriver, "the people of Mississippi are among the friendliest people I have met during this campaign."

Other stops on the trip were made in Holly Springs, Columbus, Philadelphia, Biloxi, Laurel, Vicksburg, Greenville, Cleveland, and Mound Bayou.

This was Shriver's second visit to Mississippi in less than a month. On December 14th and 15th, he spoke in Jackson and Meridian.

MISSISSIPPI STATE — "4-H is a family affair," is a phrase that has been discussed since early club groups were formed. Parents — partners on the 4-H team — make unique contributions. Successful 4-H members are evidence of parental interest.

Shriver will make another visit to Mississippi before the January 24th delegate caucuses. His wife, Mrs. Eunice Kennedy Shriver will visit Mississippi next week.

Plant summer flowering bulbs now

You probably aren't doing a whole lot of thinking about gardens and flowers and such these days. But believe it or not, now is the time to decide about your summer flowering bulbs—and depending on your flower choice, you can start planting as early as January.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has a booklet that gives you tips on how to select and care for summer flowering bulbs so you'll be a successful gardener. For a copy of Summer Flowering Bulbs send 25 cents to Consumer Information Center, Dept. 82, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Here are some highlights for you:

Select healthy, mature bulbs. This means a bulb that is firm and with an unblemished skin.

If you buy bulbs before planting time, keep them in a cool, dry area. A temperature of 60 to 65 degrees is cool enough to prevent most bulbs from drying out until you plant them.

Before you prepare the new flowerbeds, test the drainage of the soil. Dig a hole about a foot deep and fill it with water. The next day, fill the hole with water again, and see how long it remains. If the water drains away in 8 to 10 hours, the soil will drain well enough for planting. If the water stays in the hole after 10 hours, you'll need to improve the drainage. You can do this by digging furrows along the sides of the future flower bed, and adding the soil from the furrows to the bed.

Dig and plant your flowerbeds when the soil is fairly dry. Wet soil packs tightly and retards plant growth.

Summer Flowering Bulbs (25 cents) is one of over 250 selected Federal consumer publications listed in the Winter edition of the Consumer Information Index. Published quarterly by the Consumer Information Center of the General Services Administration, you get a free copy of the Index by writing Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado

Wine Cheese Bread

Entertain like a queen the economical way — with homemade quick breads.

Fragrant, irresistible Wine Cheese Bread is guaranteed top billing as an appetizer — so good it's hard to transport it from the kitchen. The wine-cheese-herb flavor whets appetites, whether of family or friends, whether eaten alone or with a slice of salami, a chunk of tuna, a slab of cheese or other delectables.

This is one quick bread that scores again and again. It's easy to make, with enriched self-rising flour — the product with the convenience factor. Each cup contains exactly 1 1/4 teaspoons of baking powder and 1/4 teaspoon salt — to save mixing, measuring, and mistakes.

Enriched self-rising flour contains a nutritional bonus, too, the essential B-vitamins — niacin, thiamine and riboflavin — and the minerals, iron and calcium, all at no additional cost or calories.

Wine Cheese Bread

2 cups enriched self-rising flour*	1/2 cup oil
1 tablespoon sugar	1/4 cup dry white wine
1 tablespoon instant minced onion	1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon crushed Italian herbs	2 eggs
	2 to 3 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Stir together first 4 ingredients. Combine oil, wine, milk and eggs. Add liquid all at once to flour mixture, stirring only until flour is moistened. Pour into greased and paper-lined 1 1/2 quart soufflé dish or 1 1/2 quart round casserole dish. Sprinkle top with cheese. Bake in preheated 400° oven 25 to 30 minutes or until lightly browned.

*Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Do not scoop.

Sonny Montgomery

to guest on ETV

U. S. Rep. G. V. "Sonny" Montgomery (D-Miss.) will be guest on Mississippi ETV's "Gazette" series Friday, January 16, to discuss his recent trip to Southeast Asia.

Montgomery, chairman of the House Select Committee on Missing Persons in Southeast Asia, traveled to Hanoi with three other members of the committee to receive the remains of three American airmen to bring to the States for burial.

The program will air at 6:30 p.m., and will repeat at 1 p.m., Sunday, January 18, on the Mississippi Educational Television Network (channels 19, Biloxi; 12, Booneville; 17, Bude; 23, Greenwood; 29, Jackson; 14, Meridian; 2, Mississippi State; and 18, Oxford-University).

Montgomery, who attended two days of meetings with Vietnamese officials, will discuss the trip and the possibilities of cooperation in the future between the United States and Southeast Asia regarding persons missing in action (MIAs).

"We express our concern for those Americans still missing or unaccounted for in Vietnam," Montgomery said "and asked for as full and expeditious an accounting as possible for these men."

Montgomery is from Meridian and has represented the third congressional district of Mississippi since January 1967.

KERSHNER'S COMMENTARY By Dr. Howard E. Kershner

Abuse Of Credit

As these lines are written, apparently more credit is being arranged for New York City, this time guaranteed by the taxpayers of our whole country. In case of default, what will happen? The innocent will suffer for the guilty. Some of New York's debt will be paid at the price of adding the equivalent to the national debt. Some people are relieved of paying the penalty for their foolish extravagance while the burden is thrust upon others who were in no way responsible for it.

New York is not alone in this tragedy. The mismanagement, waste, and foolish extravagance of the federal government exceeds that of New York City. It is less noticeable because it is obscured by the power of Congress to keep on inflating the currency; that is, to continue stealing a part of the value of every existing dollar by issuing newly-printed dollars having no value whatsoever except the capacity to "muscle in" and absorb a portion of the value of the dollars already in existence.

Suppose the people on an isolated island have a certain quantity of money. This money has been in existence a long time and truly represents wealth that the islanders have created. Now they suddenly decide to issue an equal quantity of new money which represents nothing. The new money simply steals half the value of the old money so that now a dollar has only half of its former purchasing power.

This was done, of course, because the people thought they could have more by increasing the quantity of money. This fallacy is as old as human history. Tinkering with the quantity of money, changing the amount of gold or silver in coins, clipping off the edges of coins, devaluing currencies, and other hocus-focus practices have been used by the rulers of nations throughout all history in an effort to have more, or at least to deceive the people into thinking they will have more.

Inflation has different quirks, but are essentially the same.

Why should any citizen, city, or country think that he or it can have more by going into debt? If one has difficulty paying his expenses this year, what makes him think he can better his condition by borrowing money and adding to next year's expenses, interest and amortization payments on his loan? Except for temporary emergencies and for funds used productively, debt for an individual, a city, or a nation makes it increasingly difficult to maintain solvency.

People buy on the installment plan and pay high carrying charges. In the long run, they have probably a third less of the good things they want than if they had avoided debt and saved patiently to pay cash for them.

A city that goes deeper into debt year after year merely to pay operating expenses is digging its grave deeper and deeper. Unless New York cut its own outgo, these new loans will mean disaster for the state and intensity of its bankruptcy.

Some municipal workers in New York have been putting in little, if any, extra time and effort for the while drawing full wages and now have been returning after twenty years of service and then receiving a pension-for-life, sometimes working a second twenty years and then drawing a second pension.

The number of teachers increases while the number of students decreases; the population of the city decreases while the number of public employees increases.

No amount of credit will keep a city solvent very long, if these practices continue.

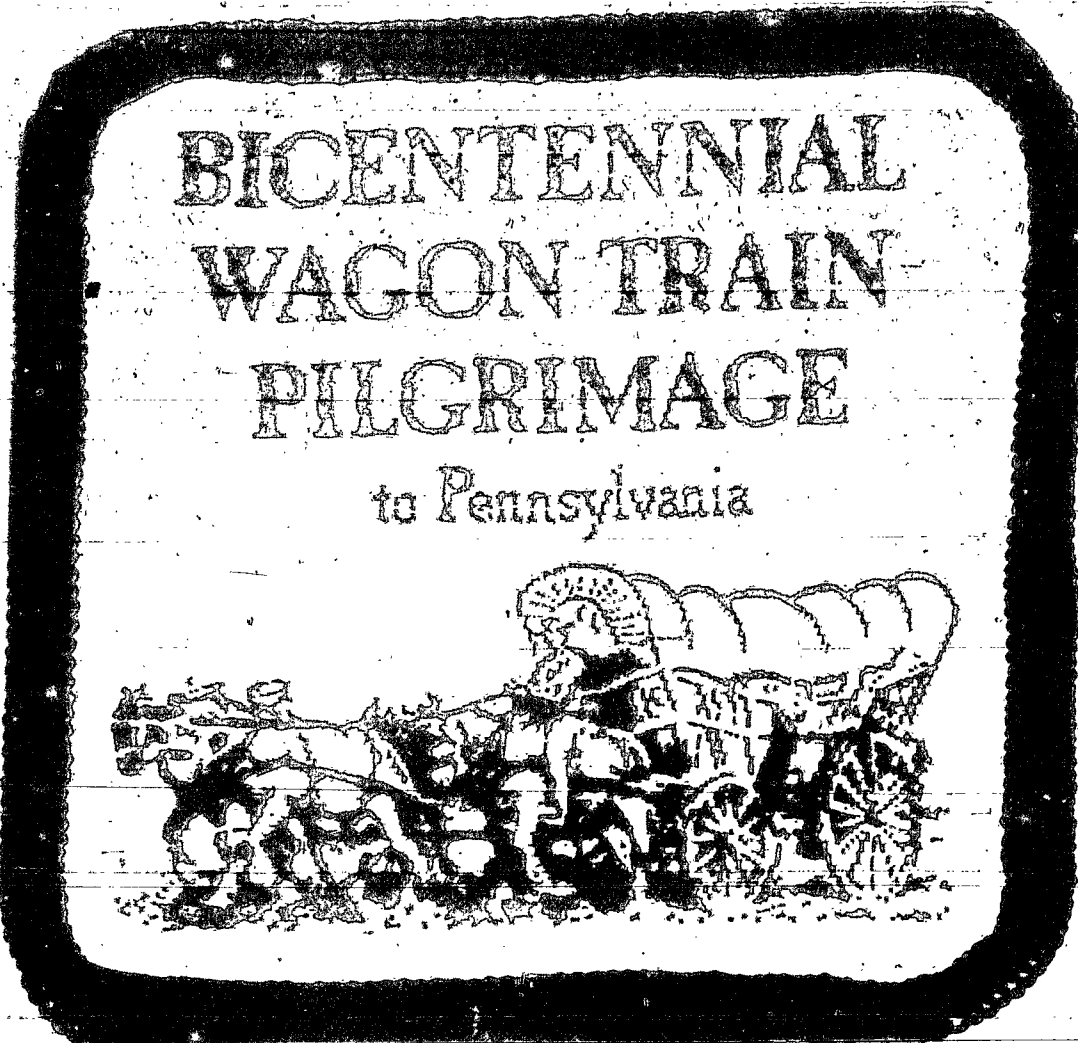

More credit is not the answer to hard times. The whole country is on a credit binge. "Easy payments" is a phrase too often heard over the radio. Every time one turns the knob he hears a persuasive voice urging listeners to borrow more money. "Begin the good life now." "Why wait to have what you want?" "Come in, pick up your money today." These and similar phrases are repeated over and over until too many people begin to accept credit as a way of life.

Easy relief and welfare payments in a bewildering variety are almost thrust upon the people. Announcements are heard on the radio telling of many benefits that are available and asking their hearers if they are sure they are collecting all to which they are entitled.

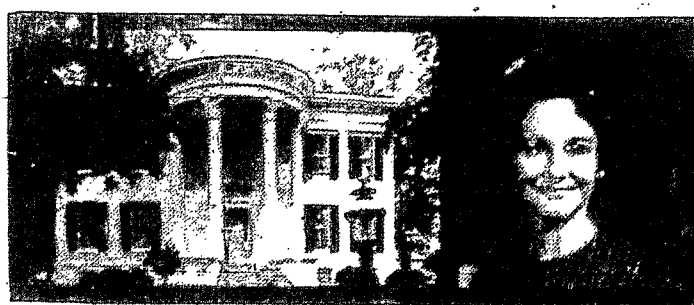

More and more, the public is being taught about its "rights." Responsibilities and self-reliance are fading out of the American picture. The heart of the country is still sound, and most of our people are still thrifty and hard-working. However, we are chipping away at the old virtues which made our country the most prosperous in the world.

ANSWER: Stop feather-bedding and demanding more from others. Instead, each one of us begin to contribute more. Stop trying to live by the sweat of other people's brows and see how it feels to live by the sweat of our own brows.

"News From Your Mansion" by Conrad Waller

This is my "own song", the last column I will write keeping you informed on happenings at your Mansion. Over the holidays we started the move back to our ranch style home on West Cheryl, which seems awfully small after your Mansion. By the time you read this the move should be complete.

Our last days at the Mansion have been full ones including the excitement of the first wedding since the restoration. Gary Freeman, our Mansion Director, married Ms. Barbara Mosley in a beautiful ceremony in the rose parlor, the traditional scene of weddings in the past. Other Mansion weddings have included that of Governor Paul B. Johnson, Jr., his daughter Tish, and Nella Bailey.

Almost as exciting was the arrival of Edward Jones and several new items for the Mansion. Included were two beautiful area rugs for the formal entry foyer and stair hall and a pair of exquisite lamps purchased with money given by the Extension Homemakers Clubs over the State. There's also an interesting pair of shoes that go on either side of the niche on the grand stair landing.

Our latest painting by a Mississippi artist is "Spring Pine", a watercolor by

The Who's Who students from Wingfield came last Thursday to make pictures for the annual, ending a long list of schools that have made this type pictures at "their" Mansion.

Our final social event was a reception on Tuesday of this week honoring the members of the Legislature and the county Supervisors giving them an opportunity to see their Mansion as it needs to be kept.

Those of you who have followed the Waller administration and the restoration of the Governor's Mansion know that Bill and I have taken pride in making this grand old historic home open to you and your families.

I have enjoyed visiting with so many of you at the Mansion and also through this column in your newspaper each week. The Wallers have gone from your Mansion, but you, our friends will long be remembered, and I will cherish the memories of our times together.

Approximately 40 paintings displayed through the month of January. Joe Latil exhibition of watercolors, Ocean Springs Library, Dewey Avenue, Ocean Springs.

Our candidate for this week's Historic Heroine is Mary Katherine Goddard. Her fight was to keep her press free and her readers informed. Miss Goddard, in addition to running a printing shop, served as Baltimore postmistress from 1775 to 1789. Her press turned out the first copies of the Declaration of Independence - including a list of 55 of the eventual 56 signers!

Mary Katherine Goddard as publisher of the weekly Maryland Journal and Baltimore Advertiser reported the war's ups and downs with courage and fervor. She refused to reveal the source of a letter she had published and although she received threats of violence she stood on the grounds that freedom of the American Press is made possible by protection of sources of information. A colorful character of whom Abigail Adams said: "A spirit that will not be conquered".

Bicentennial thinking: We, as American citizens, should participate in the business of government at local, state and national levels. In voting for officials, first learn what are the candidate's goals for the common good. Democracy needs courageous people who are willing to participate and to share.

There now seems a demand for a general return to discipline. Do you believe there is inadequate discipline in the greater part of our educational system? Are you weary with the high cost of vandalism? Are you saddened with the news of rising crimes? Strong public reaction must precede restoration of discipline in our society.

Perhaps our New Year pledge might well be to strive to turn this country over to our children - just as we received it - rather greater - grander and more beautiful.

President promises relief for state rice farmers

Governor Bill Waller and Governor-elect Cliff Finch met with President Ford last week and received assurance that the federal government will step up shipments of American rice abroad through the Food for Peace Program.

"The President was very responsive and seems to be aware of the problems facing our rice farmers," Waller said after a White House meeting with the President and the governors of Arkansas and Louisiana.

At the meeting, Waller explained to Ford the need for expanded rice exports to help ease current domestic rice surpluses which could result in low prices for Mississippi farmers.

Waller said, "It has long been our hope that we could process our agricultural materials and sell them in international trade. I appreciated this opportunity to discuss with the President the possibility of a more aggressive selling effort by our government in the international marketplace to include all agricultural commodities."

Waller said that President Ford told the group that the Agriculture Department will soon announce that the Food for Peace Program will export 25,000 metric tons of rice to Portugal and 27,000 to Zaire.

Governor-elect Finch shared Waller's attitude following the meeting. "I feel very encouraged that the President will start selling the rice to foreign countries, and I feel very comfortable about the situation," Finch said.

Governor's Office of Education and Training.

Educators and legislators and representatives of groups interested in the seminar topic are expected to air their feelings and ideas on this occasion.

Semantics will be at issue, too, because the word "compulsory" will be intentionally downplayed in favor of the label "required" in referring to school attendance.

Baxter said the seminar will be sponsored by a grant from the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities, which has financed several similar conferences during Governor Waller's administration.

TOP CAT

The search is on to locate Mississippi's top catfish cooks to enter the National Catfish Cooking Contest.

The contest will be held in conjunction with the Catfish Farmers of America (CFA) annual meeting in Biloxi February 5-7.

"CFA officials would like for all Mississippi catfish cooks who have special favorite recipes to enter them in the national competition," said John Wilson, marketing specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service.

Everyone interested in entering the National Catfish Cooking Contest should contact their local Extension Service home economist. They have complete details and entry forms for submitting recipes.

The deadline for submitting entries is December 31.

SEMINAR PLANNER

A seminar in Jackson on February 5 will discuss ingredients of a feasible state law requiring Mississippi children to attend school, according to Dr. Milton Baxter, Director of the

LIVE INAUGURATION

Mississippi Educational Television will provide viewers throughout the state live, all-day coverage of the inauguration of Governor-elect Cliff Finch beginning at 9 a.m., Tuesday, January 20.

Since a spectacular parade is scheduled in the capital city that day, the cameras will focus on the marching bands and other state-wide representatives expected to take part in the event, according to Michael Seymour, producer of the special program.

"Governor Finch's inaugural address will climax the coverage," Seymour said, adding that background information concerning the ceremony and the significance of the historic buildings that appear will be included — as well as an explanation of governmental procedure in Mississippi.

ETV anticipates covering the Prayer Breakfast planned for that morning at the Trade Mart building, and all regular programming will be cancelled until 4 p.m. Tuesday.

ABOUT YOUR Glasses

There are wrong ways of cleaning glasses—like wiping them with your tie or any dry cloth (left). And there is the correct way—like allowing faucet water to run over them and then wiping with a facial tissue.

TAKING CARE OF YOUR GLASSES

by Ralph Drew

"I can never keep my glasses clean!" Most people say this. They were probably told how to keep their eyewear clean, but that was some time ago. It's hard to remember these things.

Think in terms of taking care of your glasses, not just cleaning the lenses. If you do this properly the glasses will look and work better, and it won't be so hard to keep the lenses clear. Here are some hints for you:

—Begin by handling them properly. Most of us tend to be a little too rough with glasses, which is bad for them. Use a case whenever you can; don't shove glasses caseless in a pocket or purse where items like keys can damage them.

—If you can help it, don't yank glasses off with one hand or they won't keep their shape. Use two hands. Take them off with a forward and downward motion.

—If they are the on-and-off kind, like reading or sunglasses, be extra careful. Keep the inside of the case vacuumed clean, and use it.

—It gets awfully hot in a parked car. So don't leave glasses exposed near a window, especially if the frames are plastic. Heat tends to warp them.

Never put glasses anywhere with lenses face down. Leave the side pieces open, the way you wear them. But never with lenses face down.

Cleaning glasses is important and easy. Remember, the enemy of any polished surface is grit and dust. Rubbing the lenses dry makes tiny scratches which, you may be surprised to learn, weakens them. Once a day let tepid faucet water run over the glasses (the frame, too), then wipe them dry with soft cloth or facial tissue. Take extra care if the lenses are of soft plastic.

Lens polishes cost very little, and they do protect the washed lens surface. Treat glasses like your car: wash first, then polish. Both stay clean longer.

For comfort and good vision, have your eyewear specialist realign your glasses at least twice a year, or at the intervals he suggests. Never try doing it yourself!

In this way you'll keep your glasses clean and comfortable. Do it for them, they do a lot for you.

In a test of cow and horse eyes, the cows were found to learn just as easily as horses and to remember better.

Inflation-Fighting Food Ideas

ITALIAN TREAT: SAUCY STEW WITH PASTA

Here's a dish that originated in Italy called cacciatore or Hunter's Stew. There were plenty of rabbits, so the original recipe called for rabbit, and was cooked over a campfire.

We've substituted chicken for rabbit, added pasta and cooked everything together in a hearty canned spaghetti sauce—that's the secret. The results are delicious; the pots and pans reduced to one. Total cooking time is forty minutes, so you'll be saving energy there, too; the kind that costs money. Try this super-energy saver with a tossed green salad and melon for dessert.

EASY CHICKEN SPAGHETTI CACCIATORE

1 chicken (2 lb.) cut up, skin removed
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup chopped onion

Sauce with Meat
1 1/4 cups water
3/4 cup sliced carrots
1 cup Rotini or elbow macaroni
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Saute chicken in a 10" skillet in butter until golden. Add onion and continue cooking for five minutes. Drain off excess fat; add salt, spaghetti sauce and water. Cover; simmer for 15 minutes. Add carrots, macaroni and coat. Continue simmering for 25 minutes. Garnish with chopped parsley. Serves 4 to 6.

Firelane construction urged to halt wildfires

Firelane construction has become "top priority" with local Mississippi Forestry Commission crews as the threat of wildfire in the county mounts, according to County Forester Michael Williams. William said heavy frosts in recent weeks have set the stage for wildfires and that Forestry Commission crews are busy helping county landowners fortress their timberlands with protective firelanes.

The wildfire season in Hancock County traditionally begins with the first heavy frosts and continues until about April 15 when the countryside takes on new green vegetation.

Williams said that withered vegetation killed by the frosts acts as tinder fuel on which fires can quickly grow in size and destruction.

"Wildfire is the most destructive enemy of the forest," Williams said, "it can strike suddenly, without warning, and in only minutes can destroy years of timber growth and untold profits for landowners. Protection against wildfire is essential to profitable timber management."

The overall winner and two alternates will be announced on or before April 1. The winner will receive a one-week trip to the Nation's Capital during the Bicentennial month of July while the two runners-up will each receive a $50 savings bond.

Goodwill offers reward for theft information

Due to increased incidences of vandalism and theft from Goodwill Industries' collection boxes, a $200 reward will be offered to anyone having information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible, according to

are now being placed on each of the three boxes in Bay St. Louis announcing the reward. The collection boxes are located in the Bay St. Louis Shopping Center and the Bay Mall.

Treutel to attend Presidential Classroom

David A. Treutel Jr., 132 St. Charles St., Bay St. Louis, will represent St. Stanislaus at the Presidential Classroom for Young Americans scheduled Feb. 14-21 in Washington, D. C.

During the session, Treutel will attend seminars and discussions led by Washington officials.

Greek legend had it that after death one drinks from the river Lethe, and forgets all that happened in life.

Modenbach said the items received from the collection boxes are one of Goodwill's main sources of materials for the handicapped. He said theft of the items "deprives the handicapped of the chance to earn their own living."

Krewe of Triton tells Mardi Gras parade plans

The Bay-Waveland Krewe of Triton has announced that their second annual Mardi Gras parade will take place on Tuesday, March 2 (Mardi Gras day).

This year's event will feature New Orleans style floats, professionally designed and constructed by Ed Scanlan and Associates of that city. As is the tradition, each float will depict a segment of the overall parade theme and will carry masked and costumed krewe members whose sole purpose is to shower the crowds of spectators with beads, trinkets, and especially cast krewe doubloons.

The doubloons are sought-after favors, which like the parade, are designed to represent a particular theme, and will be thrown by the thousands as the parade moves along its U.S. Highway 90 route.

The parade will form in the parking lot of the Our Shopping Center at Waveland Ave. and Highway 90 in Waveland. From there it will depart at 2:30 p.m. and move eastward in the south lane to Dunbar Ave. in Bay St. Louis where it will disband.

The highlight of the parade will be the second Annual Triton Marching Band competition which last year attracted musical units from Louisiana and Mississippi.

In the spirit of the day, the krewe also announced plans to sponsor a pre-parade costume contest, and competition for the best private float and marching group.

The general public is invited to join in the costume competition, which will be judged at the Triton reviewing stand between 1:30 and 2:30 p.m. Trophies will be awarded for the most original costumes in three categories: including individuals, couples, and groups. A registration desk will be provided at the reviewing stand. This contest is not a part of the parade. In the other public event, trophies will be awarded to the most original private float and to the best marching group. Any theme is acceptable for these events and interested persons should call 467-7186 for entry forms and further information. Since these groups will be a part of the parade the deadline for registration is Feb. 23. Entrance to all public events is free.

Acreage allotment set for rice crop

The acreage allotment for Mississippi's 1976 rice crop is 46,674 acres, Madelyn R. Williams, acting county executive director, Pearl River - Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) reported. The 1976 acreage, apportioned from a national allotment of 1,652,596 acres is 128,326 acres less than the 1975 plantings.

"Marketing quotas are also proclaimed for the 1976 rice crop," Mrs. Williams said. To become effective, however, the quotas must be approved by two-thirds or more farmers voting in a national referendum, she explained. Voting eligibility will be extended to farmers engaged in the production of rice in 1975, including non-allotment as well as allotment holders. The U.S. Department of Agriculture will conduct the referendum. Non-allotment rice growers should contact the ASCS county office to verify that they are eligible to vote and a ballot will be sent to them. "If the new rice legislation currently before Congress is enacted, the 1976 rice provision would be changed," Mrs. Williams stated. Legislation currently under consideration by the Congress, if subsequently enacted into law, would suspend marketing quotas and terminate acreage restrictions on the 1976 and 1977 crops of rice. In this event, the marketing quota provision and the statutory minimum national allotment of 1,652,596 acres would not apply for 1976, she said.

Such legislation has been passed by the House of Representatives and reported out favorably by the Senate Committee on Agriculture and Forestry.

The present law requires the Secretary of Agriculture to proclaim quotas for a forthcoming crop year, and conduct a referendum, when the total supply of rice for the current marketing year exceeds the normal supply. The total supply for 1975-76 of 134.7 million hundredweight exceeds the computed normal supply of 112.2 million hundredweight.

If quotas are approved, Mrs. Williams said, the production from individual producers and farm allotments would become the 1976 crop marketing quotas. "However, acreage allotments would remain in effect as a condition of eligibility for price support at 50 percent of parity on allotment production," she explained.

Applicants for all ASCS programs will be given equal consideration.

Mealtime: Food for one or two

When preparing meals for yourself only, or perhaps one other person, it is easy to develop the habit of eating skimpy, monotonous meals. Avoid this by planning and careful shopping.

Partially prepared or fully prepared foods usually cost more than similar foods prepared at home. However, to prepare some recipes, so much food must be purchased that unused portions stored for later use must often be eventually discarded.

Therefore, it may cost less in the long run to pay a little more for a convenient amount of prepared or partially prepared product. You can sometimes save money, as well as add variety to meals, if you buy small amounts of foods that are available in cans.

Make cooking easier by using shortcuts. A frozen dinner or canned or frozen main dish and vegetables are easy to prepare. Serve with fruit or juices, milk and fresh or frozen baked products to make a complete meal. These foods are satisfying, can be purchased in usable amounts and can give good nutritional value for the little time and energy needed to prepare them.

Avoid a last minute rush at mealtime. Meal preparation is less tiring when some of the food is partly or fully prepared in advance. For instance, you can make dry mixes for quick breads, cakes and puddings ahead of time; they keep well and can be measured out and used at your convenience.

Try combination dishes. Many canned and packaged foods can be combined with other foods to make appetizing dishes that are easily prepared. Here are some combinations that can be changed to use foods you have on hand.

Use tomato soup, canned, undiluted, as a sauce over meatballs or with quick cooking rice to make spanish rice.

Melt processed cheese over asparagus or broccoli, or blend cheese with a white sauce (seasoned with a little mustard) and serve on toast or crackers.

Form canned corned beef hash into patties, top with a slice of pineapple and grill.

Combine ground meat, tuna, cut-up cooked chicken or ham, dried beef, or frankfurters with canned macaroni and cheese or with spaghetti in tomato sauce. Bake to blend the flavors.

Add chopped onion and green pepper to tuna or chicken and combine with condensed chicken soup, undiluted. Top with an unbaking powder biscuit and bake until heated through or biscuit is brown.

Use the oven, if you have one, to make cooking easier. As a rule, food in the oven takes less watching than food on top of the range; often an entire meal can be cooked at the same time.

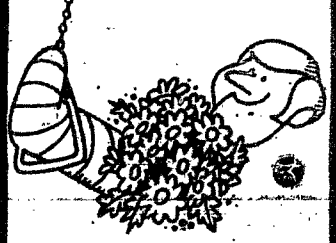

If you have a freezer or a frozen food compartment in your refrigerator, keep commercially frozen food on hand or freeze your own food - uncooked or cooked - for later use.

If setting a table for one or two seems too much trouble, look for ways to make eating time comfortable and interesting with the least possible effort. Use pretty placemats - they're less bother than a tablecloth. Lightweight trays in convenient sizes are step-saving. Use a tray to collect silver.

food and things that go on the table. A cart or small table, mounted on casters, is another worksaver.

Or, put a mat on a tray and serve the meal on the tray. Meals on trays can be carried to a table or chair by the window, or out on the porch or lawn where you are more likely to eat slowly and enjoy the meal.

They'll get well faster with flowers!

Ole Miss, State tangle in SEC matchup Saturday

UNIVERSITY - The Ole Miss Rebels go back on the road this weekend, seeking a breakthrough in a logjam of successive defeats.

With an overall record of only four victories in 12 outings, Ole Miss will carry an 0-3 Southeastern Conference worksheet into Saturday night's game in Starkville with Mississippi State.

Two nights later, they move into Tuscaloosa for the Jan. 19 meeting with defending co-champion Alabama.

The Rebel's most recent SEC skirmish was a 100-75 lesson at the hands of fast-breaking LSU Saturday night in Baton Rouge. Earlier, at home, they had dropped decisions to Florida and Auburn. Those scores were 75-58 and 72-68.

The Rebel's current loss string began Dec. 22 against South Alabama in the final of the Senior Bowl tournament in Mobile. After posting an 84-74 win over Pan American, the top-ranked club in the tourney, they faltered in the title game, losing 70-54.

State's Bulldogs, after opening with a 77-73 upset of Kentucky starting their Conference season, have skidded in their last three outings, dropping an overtime game to Vanderbilt, 71-66; then losing road bouts to Florida, 99-78, and Auburn, 78-70.

Along with high-flying Tennessee, a 77-56 loser Monday night at Vanderbilt, the Tide tasted defeat in Conference play for the first time in a 12-0 loss to Florida in Gainesville.

Ranking Auburn, Vandy and the Rebels are tied for the top spot in current SEC standings, all with 4-1 records.

LSU and Tennessee hold 2-1 SEC marks. Saturday's game will tip off at 7:30 p.m.

keeping you in touch

By F. M. Kyle, Jr.
Gulf Coast District Manager

Here's some good news to begin the New Year with... telephone customers are going to get a tax break again this year. On January 1, the federal excise tax rate applied to charges for taxable communications services decreased from 7% to 6%. The new 6% excise tax rate applies to local and long distance service. The rate will continue to drop each year until the tax is eliminated in 1982.

Keeping You in Touch, in addition to being my monthly column, is also my job. And, there's more to it than meets the eye. We serve more than 1,178,000 telephones in Mississippi with a network of thousands of miles of cables, wires, terminals, and highly technical communications equipment. And, in addition to the precision equipment necessary to keep your phone working, it takes people.

Over 7,300 skilled South Central Bell employees in Mississippi work around the clock to provide you the best possible telephone service. For example, when a telephone is reported out of service, a team of trained employees work together to locate, identify, and repair the trouble. Eight out of ten cases of trouble are cleared the same day they are reported.

In many cases telephone trouble is corrected before the customer is aware there is a problem. As part of our preventive maintenance program, special test equipment is used to check lines and switching equipment for trouble. This equipment often finds trouble in the early stages so it can be corrected before it affects the customer's service.

So you see, keeping you in touch isn't a simple operation. It's a big job that requires highly skilled employees, expensive equipment, and a lot of time and effort. And it's a job which is done with no additional maintenance charge to you, our customer, regardless of the work, people, and expense involved.

*****
Make one of your New Year resolutions the elimination of birth defects. Birth defects are forever unless you help. During January, volunteer workers of Dimes workers begin their campaign to collect funds for your support of research and various medical services programs to prevent birth defects. Your contribution can help more than 100,000 youngsters who enter the world each year with a major or minor defect to lead normal, progressive lives.

Consumers warned of unsafe boats

The Coast Guard warns all owners of 1974 Model 170 bass boats manufactured by the National Boat Corporation of St. Petersburg, Fla., that these boats do not comply with applicable Coast Guard safety standards.

The National Boat Corporation has declared bankruptcy and the Coast Guard has been unable to obtain names and addresses of the 212 purchasers of the unsafe boats the company manufactured. These boats may be identified by the first three characters in the hull identification number located on the outside of the transom.

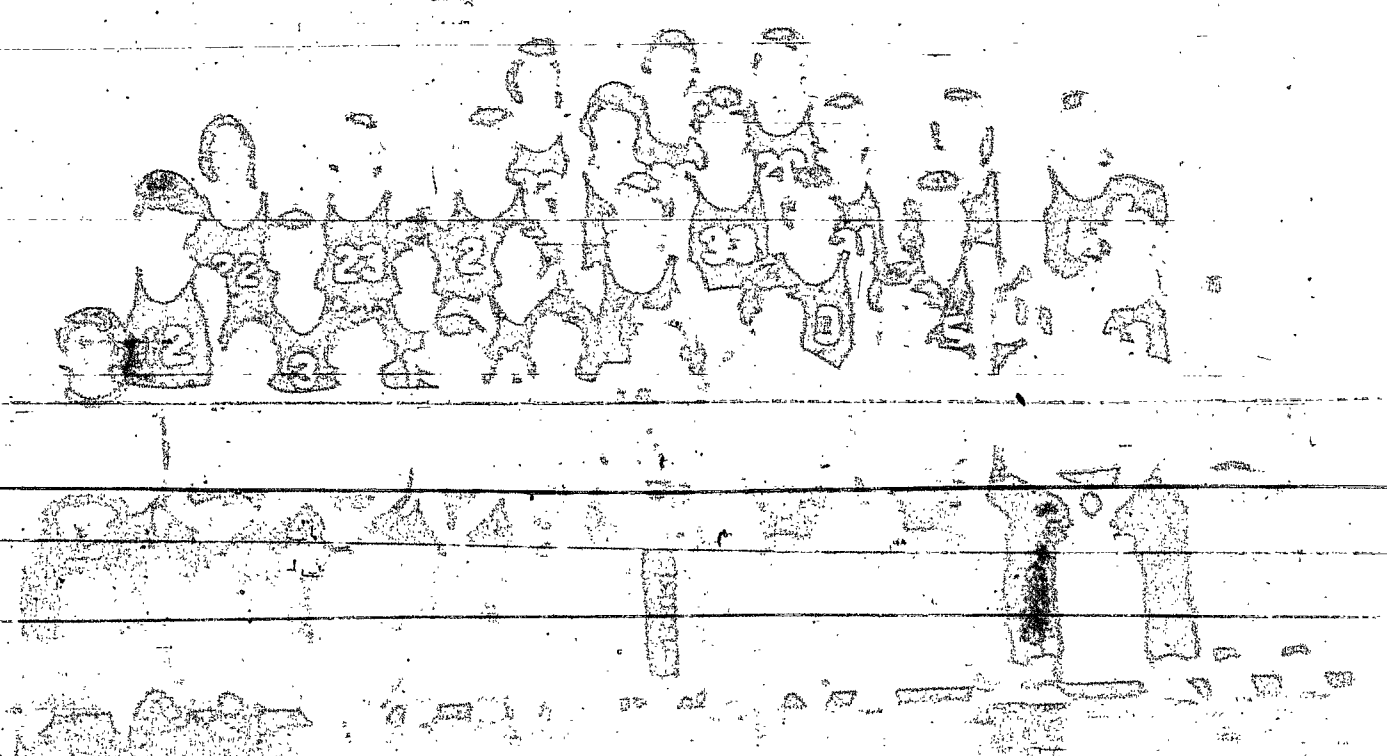

The Coast Guard requests information labels on the boats do not bear correct capacity information, and most important, the boats do not contain sufficient structural material for them to float in the event that they should capsize. The maximum recommended capacity displayed should be 100 and the maximum weight capacity 1,000 pounds.

Owners are urged to contact the Seventh Coast Guard District at Building 1, S.W. First Ave., Miami, Fla. 33136 for detailed information on the necessary corrective action.

Today, people say the nicest things about George Washington and history recognizes his nobility and great achievements. But when he was alive, many harsh things were said about him because of his policy of peace with England during his last years in office as our first president!

Junior Tigers even score, dump Harrison Central 42-40

"We have 18 players in our squad. They play with true team spirit and turn in a team performance."

These were the words of Coach Barney Nokes, Monday night, following a 42-41 victory registered by his Bay Junior High Tigers over the Harrison Central Red Rebels in an away game. Coach Nokes said the win avenged a 54-50 defeat sustained by his team when the Red Rebels came to the Bay earlier in the season.

"They came here and beat us in a tight match earlier in the year, so we went there and evened things up," Nokes said.

High Tiger senior in the hard-fought match was Celestine Jurelle with 18 points. Other behind scene leads Nokes, who put 13 points into the scoreboard, and Officer Hillman, with 8.

Spring Pabst and Kelly Fricks were tried by Nokes for an outstanding game on defense.

High scoring honors for the Red Rebels went to J. J. Sney and Tyrone Butler, both shooting for 15 points.

Bay Junior High plays tonight at home, in a three game set against Ocean Springs.

Proficiency exam planned for nurses

The fourth proficiency examination for practical nurses licensed by waiver (RN and LPN) seeking to qualify for participation in the Medicare and Medicaid programs will be held May 2.

A HEW spokesman said these examinations will be offered on at least an annual basis through Dec. 31, 1977. Invitations and requests for applications should be made to the Mississippi State Board of Health, P. O. Box 1700, Jackson, Miss. 39203. The deadline for receipt of the applications is Feb. 15.

Almost 100 million Americans, nearly half of the nation's population, are potentially eligible for Veterans Administration benefits and services.

Record-Making Cargo Drew Crowds In New Orleans

Crowds gathered to cheer the arrival of the Steamer Henry Frank in New Orleans on April 2, 1881.

It chugged into the Crescent City port with a record 9,226 bales of cotton—not to mention an additional 250 tons of sundries that included 1,213 sacks of cottonseed, 1,224 sacks of oil cake, 500 sacks of cottonseed meal, 705 sacks of corn, nine sacks of coffee, and two wagons.

At that time the cotton cargo alone was said to be the largest ever floated on one bottom, reports the National Cotton Council.

The steamer had left Memphis with 2,596 bales of cotton aboard, and picked up the remainder at various landings in Arkansas, Mississippi, and Louisiana.

Among Arkansas stops were Walnut Bend, Helena, and Arkansas City, while Louisiana landings included Buckhorn and Delta. In Mississippi—where the bulk of the cotton cargo was taken on—stops included Bennett's, Austin, Glendale, Friar's Point, Australia, Carson's, Terrene, Riverton, Melrose, Stormville, Easton's, Eutaw, Mound Landing, Greenville, and Natchez.

Biggest pick-up of cotton en route was 2,296 bales taken aboard at Terrene—a point that no longer appears on Mississippi maps.

Enviably Record As early as the 1820's, cotton farmers were supplying nearly half of all American exports value-wise and providing U.S. industry with its most important raw material.

Hawks, Gulfport to make first high school Dome appearance

Hancock North Central High School will play Gulfport High School in the Superdome as a preliminary game to the Jazz-Kansas City game February 6. It will be the first high school basketball game ever played in the Superdome.

The idea of this game originated from the promotion department of the Jazz. It is to help build basketball in the South and to bring in new fans for the Jazz and the Superdome.

If the people from our local areas in South Mississippi help support this trial idea of preliminary games in the Dome it will probably enable many more local teams to participate in this Superdome activity prior to the Jazz professional basketball games.

On Feb. 6 the Superdome doors will open at 5 p.m. Gulfport VS. Hancock at 5:15.

Kansas City VS. Jazz at 7:35.

Tickets are now on sale at Hancock North Central School. Business places in Picayune, Poplarville and Bay St. Louis will have them on sale soon. Ticket prices for both games have been reduced from $6 to $4 (second level above midcourt), from $5.50 to $4 (first level near end of court), and from $4 to $3 (second level near end of court).

Fans will be allowed to take any seat available in the Dome for the high school game. For the Jazz game they will have to move to the ticket seat number. You may contact the administration at Hancock North Central for tickets now.

Ladies of the Corridor to be broadcast

Cloris Leachman, Janet Wyatt and Zorah Lampert star in "The Ladies of the Corridor" by Dorothy Parker and Arnaud d'Usseau, the "Hollywood Television Theatre" production Thursday, January 15, at 8 p.m., on ETV.

The program can be seen on channels 19, Biloxi; 12, Booneville; 17, Bude; 23, Greenwood; 29, Jackson; 14, Meridian; 2, Mississippi State; and 18, Oxford University.

The Hotel Marlowe in New York City is an apartment hotel and home to the main characters in the play: Lulu Ames (Cloris Leachman), an attractive widow who has come from Akron, Ohio, to the excitement of the big city; Mrs. Nichols (Jane Wyatt), a sweet-faced invalid who blackmails her son to keep him with her; and Mildred Tynan (Zorah Lampert), an alcoholic unable to cope with day-to-day living.

The entanglements, loneliness and fantasies of each of the hotel's tenants form the focus of the play. These "Ladies of the Corridor," as T. S. Eliot wrote in Sweeney Erect, "find themselves involved, disgraced, call witness to their principles and deprecate the lack of taste."

The Veterans Administration employs 31 of the nation's 292 recipients of the Medal of Honor.

SAFETY SENSE

TIPS ON HAVING A HULL OF A GOOD TIME

It makes sense to select safety when buying a used boat. And there are certain specific things you can look for to assure yourself a seaworthy craft. The following tips came from the editors of a new book, "The Boat," first in the new series of Time-Life's Library of Boating, available at bookstores or by writing to Mary Jo Frere, Time-Life Books, Time-Life Building, Rockefeller Center, New York, N.Y. 10020.

Check the planking. The planking of a sound boat holds its curves and is smoothly joined, and the nails, screws or bolts used to fasten each plank are securely seated. You can check for loose fastenings by thumping on the hull. If a plank gives, vibrates or sounds hollow, or if the caulking that stops up the seams jumps out of place, the fastenings are loose and must be replaced.

Check for dry rot. Look first at areas that tend to trap fresh water: the deck and side planking, at the stern and transom, beneath chocks and rails, under drain holes and seepers. Inside the hull, probe about any inaccessible, dark area where moist air lingers, such as the ends of beams and frames, along edges of bulkheads, inside lockers, under the ice chest and at the foot of the mast.

Check the motor. If the engine housing is clean, the bilges dry, the hose connections secure and rust-free, the beds and mounts solid, chances are the engine itself has also had fastidious upkeep. Marine engines usually have a limited lifespan of about 10 years before a complete overhaul.

Check a prospective boat buy for wear and tear, and you'll be making a check for safety.

Believe it or not, both these men wear dentures. Clark Gable wears a secret, but one day writer Art Linkletter told him at a water fountain and discovered the "truth" about the famous Thelma Houston.

But smile! And George Clooney is bit disappointed in his portraits he had good reason. The father of our dentures wore a two piece set of dentures fashioned from a kitchen sink and a sponge.

Today's dentures are taken from the same old line dentures of Washington's time. Modern dentures are made in a few days, some of the materials that look so natural, are almost invisible.

This is because, for all their natural appearance, dentures receive special attention to preserve their good looks. The latest development in denture cleaning is Denta Fresh, a new noncorrosive liquid that is applied daily to the dentures and brushed up into a rich cleansing foam - eliminating the need for hot and obscene soaking. With Denta Fresh, dentures are clean and ready to wear in less than 5 minutes. The last noncorrosive denture cleanser, its special formulation contains no gritty abrasives to cut and scratch highly polished and costly denture materials. It is as gentle as it is effective.

Judy Thomas, a representative from the state welfare department traveling with the Time Task Force, offered information regarding Medicaid coverage and benefits.

They added that senior citizens should contact the Office of Consumer Protection in Jackson for any questions they might have regarding items to be purchased, potential credit problems, or expected swindles.

Seldom are we disappointed.

The people at our electric companies rely on us to understand this just as we rely on them for dependable service.

Our own jobs probably depend on electricity, and we rely on the people who make it to have it there. Just as we rely on them to have it waiting when we come home at night.

New York SA—Farmers have to have sulphur to help fertilize their fields. Sulphur is an essential plant nutrient itself, and it also is crucial to the production of all important phosphate fertilizers. The sulphur is made into sulphuric acid, which is then converted to phosphate rock into phosphoric acid for the fertilizers.

Who makes the sulphur? Non-air-breathing bacteria called Desulfotribrio desulfuricans, that's who. These talented bugs live in the tops of subterranean salt domes which were thrust up centuries ago from sedimentary salt beds under the coast of the Gulf of Mexico. The domes are capped with anhydrite rock and generally surrounded by pools of oil.

The bugs use the oil for energy. Then they chomp on the anhydrite rock, breaking it down into limestone and hydrogen gas (famous for its rotten-egg smell). The limestone and the gas in turn yield sulphur.

So be nice to bugs. Some of them are hard at work in the salt cellars of Louisiana and Texas, helping to put food on your table. (H)

California's State Agricultural Society sought to encourage cotton planting in the Golden State as early as 1896, when it offered a large prize for the best acre of cotton. Calnet won the prize in 1945 with a crop of 100 bales on 160 acres. The prize had risen to $600.

Six years later, it spread the seeds to a total of 36,500 in premiums for cowboys in 190-mile hots. A Los Angeles farmer

WATCH WATER TEMPERATURE AND SAVE MONEY

According to electric utility authorities, it costs more to heat your water than to light your entire home. In fact, next to home heating and cooling systems, hot water takes the most energy and energy dollars. The Federal Energy Administration reveals, for instance, that it costs more for a man to shave with a regular razor than with an electric razor, a bonus of the higher cost of heating the water.

Cold water laundering is not a new idea. Since the 1950's introduction of the Power, the heavy-duty detergent specially formulated for cold water washing, millions of women have been turning off hot water taps on washdays. At first it was to help prevent shrinkage, stain-setting, runniness and fading of colors. Then they learned about the copper-period "brighteners" in the Cold Power. And now, on these days the men and women to the cold water detergent not only to clean clothes effectively the modern way but to save fuel and money.

When it comes to the home laundry, which requires so much water, the FEA points out that modern cold water laundering would save the nation more than 4 million gallons of oil a day, enough to heat some 2 million homes. And by saving fuel, cold-water laundering saves money. Depending on the kind of fuel used, an average family can save over $50 a year on its heating costs by washing with cold water, not hot water. A larger family, or one living in an area where the fuel or utility costs have undergone recent increases, could save much more.

As evidence of the acceptance of the cold water technique, the majority of today's automatic washers feature cold cycles and settings for cold water washing and cold water rinsing. For any machine that does not have a cold-water setting, the federal energy authorities say simply connect the cold water outlet to the washer.

A new booklet with all the money-saving and energy-saving facts about this

What's the effectiveness score of cold versus hot water laundering? A leading consumer research organization recently conducted extensive laundry tests and confirmed that cold water laundering produces washes that look just as clean as hot water washes. And, an added advantage to washing with the cold-water detergent is that, according to many fiber manufacturers, cold water laundering is easier on modern fibers than hot water. They don't recommend hot water for synthetics or permanent press finishes, and these fabrics make up 80% of today's average home laundry.

KANTCHA KETCHUM

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

Everyone knows that fishing is predominated by the weather. The weather has been bad for the past week with cold fronts coming in every other day. Of course a few fish are always caught, mostly by accident.

According to reports fishing has been on the bad side. Heard about a few fresh water fish being caught in local bayous and in the Pearl River area the past week. These fish must be starving to death with the water being cold.

It is natural for fish to feed just before an approaching front. Now that we are in the middle of January there won't be much more time before the weather warms up. Then fishing will get normal again.

At the end of this month most all game, ducks, geese, etc., seasons will be over and sportsmen will again return to fishing. This season we think has been a fairly good one for hunters.

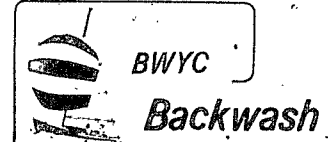

August Rauxet and his hunting buddies from Baton Rouge will make a last duck and geese hunt over next weekend we were told.

Heard Dudley Heiliger's program Sunday on Channel 13, Dudley also complained about no fishing at this time on the coast. Told about some folks catching a few catfish. That's bad. Dudley's program is always interesting and informative. Stated that his program next Sunday goes back to the old time, 2:30 Sunday afternoon instead of 5:00 p.m.

Something to look forward to. Did you know that soft crabbing and floundering will start in about two months. March and April are the best months for getting the little devils. Better get a light and other equipment for catching them. It can be fun for the whole family and furnish a lot

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK—Willie Cleveland from Franklinton, La. is a natural born fisherman. He has purchased a camp down on Campbell's Bayou which he shares with his friends and grandchildren. Good fishing, Willie.

MONTHLY LUNCHEON—Featured at Bay Waveland's monthly luncheon Wednesday, Jan. 21, will be Wayne Smith of Trader Smith's Corner in Long Beach, who will talk about refinishing antiques and demonstrate the difference between fine antiques and plain old furniture. There will also be an expert on cut glass who will show how to distinguish between fine expensive cut glass and imitation.

This promises to be a very interesting program. Reservations may be made by calling 487-4592.

JUNIOR MID-WINTERS—Several Bay Waveland members will be trailing Scots to Fairhope, Ala., this weekend to participate in the Junior Flying Scot Mid-Winters which will be sailed at Fairhope Yacht Club on Mobile Bay Jan. 17-18.

Fantasy—What reality becomes when we ask enough questions of it.

of weeks. Every cloud has a silver lining so when this weather breaks fishing will be good again. Have patience.

You'll have to put up with this column this week, there is no fishing, no trolling or casting for specks, no nothing! Hope to do better next week. If you have any fishing news let it come a pitching, can use some.

Was told that catfish are being caught most every where on catfish lines and by still fishing. Two of the best places are Bayou La Croix and Jourdan River. They are both nearby. Whether you know it or not catfish make for good eating. When fried, when broiled or barbecued. Catfish and spaghetti can't be beat.

Another thing when no other fish are biting croakers do. They are easily caught when using dead shrimp for bait. Croakers are good eating in my way of thinking, when fried they taste delicious, especially with grits in the morning. That's if you like fish for breakfast.

Hunting snipe is one of our last seasons. Snipe are also good eating, and with snipe are woodcock, a wonderful eating bird. These birds are found mostly in meadow lands or marshes. They are fast flying and make a wonderful target when on the wing. Why not go snipe or woodcock hunting? A bird dog comes in mighty good for hunting them.

Health Dept.

Dr. Louis H. Jobe Jr., Director Hancock County Health Department, announced the office will be closed Thursday, Jan. 22, for an all day in-service program in Gulfport.

EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS

Hancock County Extension Homemakers Council held a brief business session Jan. 8 in the extension auditorium following the group's training on three dimensional paper tote conducted by Mrs. Mona Santiago.

PASS GARDEN CLUB

The monthly meeting of the Pass Christian Garden Club was held Jan. 8 at 1:30 p.m. in the Trinity Episcopal Parish House.

The Christmas Bazaar was a successful event and all the workers were thanked by Mrs. Gertrude Brown, co-chairman with Mrs. Pat Curren, for their generous help in making this only fund-raising affair worth all the effort it took.

Dr. Celestine Linnstraedter, Hand's Program chairman, reported on her recent luncheon meeting with the Coast Hands Committee. The Hand's Program is a community and environmental improvement project sponsored by Sears and the Garden Councils. Dr. Linnstraedter reported that the Pass Christian Hands committee had recently planted assorted azalea plants, Siberian Iris, day lilies, sasanquas and box wood on the Pass High School campus.

The Jr. Gardeners chairman, Mrs. Donald Morse, reported that the juniors had gone on a field trip in September gathering dried material for arrangements which were made at the October meeting. In November they made a visit to a Pineville fern nursery and in December Christmas gifts were made for the bazaar. Plans for January include making terrariums.

The president, Mrs. Mary Brandt, announced the nominating committee which includes Mrs. Richard Gilbert, Mrs. William Harrison and Mrs. Robert Erickson. They will report in April.

Guest speaker for this meeting was Woodrow Owen of Long Beach. He has retired after working 38 years with the U. S. Department of Agriculture as an entomologist and plant quarantine specialist.

His topic was "You, the Soil and Your Garden." The "You" is the main ingredient in success in a garden. The garden reflects the individuality of the gardener and any reason we garden will do, whether it be for the inner satisfaction, for a show place or competition with a neighbor, he said.

homes. The purpose of this research is so that new owners of the old homes can be acquainted with the home's history and the information can be compiled into a tour pamphlet of the area.

Mrs. Asahel Cooper Jr., Mrs. Sheelah Maginnis, and Phil Ambler will assist Mrs. Byrne.

There was a discussion of the urgent need for the society to find ways and means to preserve all of the old and historic homes now standing so that Pass Christian's distinctive atmosphere will not be destroyed.

It was decided to hold future meetings of the Society at the Pass Christian Public Library. The next meeting will be at 8 p.m., Monday, Feb. 9. New Members are cordially welcome to attend.

ST. MONICA GUILD

Fables for Young and Old, written by Lillian Trasher, printed in the United States and copyrighted in 1956, was the subject of an Egyptian program given on Monday in the home of Mrs. Ducros Stoupe in Pass Christian when members of the St. Monica Guild, Women of Trinity Church, assembled.

Mrs. Arceneaux, who spent six months in Assiut and Cairo, prefaced her inroduction to the book by saying that she knew Lillian Trasher as a missionary from Philadelphia, and stressed Miss Trasher's role in Egypt in "Christian faith in action."

Faced with the awesome decision of either continuing her services as a Christian missionary, or continuing her humane policy of saving the lives of unwanted babies of the poor who would otherwise have been cast into the Nile, Miss Trasher's decision marked the early beginnings of what is now an orphanage functioning successfully in Assiut.

Selecting from the book, Mrs. Arceneaux read two fables as a posthumous tribute to Lillian Trasher who died in December 1961.

In other matters, Mrs. John McCloskey who serves as coordinator for the traditional St. Valentine's tea named committee members and announced some of the highlights to be featured during the Feb. 14 tea.

Mrs. McCloskey said Trinity Church would be open at that time for visitors, guides would be available and an organ recital would be included. Heading the church guides is Mrs. G. Watson Prindiville. A display of fair linens will be featured and a concise history of the church will be made available for guests. Serving with Mrs. Prindiville will be Mrs. Robert Bird of Long Beach and Mrs. Nunez C. Pilet of Bay St. Louis.

Presiding at the tea service was Mrs. Theo T. Moore. Twenty nine members and two guests were present at the meeting.
